- Opportunities to connect with colleagues who value informed consent and the conscientious practice of medicine, including regional networking events
- Access to the most up-to-date research on the impact of abortion on women, families, preborn children and society so that you can defend the lives of both of your patients and resist the pro-abortion trend in medicine
- Encouragement for medical students, residents and other healthcare professional trainees to stay the course of defending life in their practice along with mentorship opportunities
- A non-sectarian professional medical organization that represents you in the public square based on sound medical judgment and Hippocratic principles, not a political agenda
- The second expert medical opinion needed in issues pertaining to abortion to counter the increasingly pro-abortion narrative of ACOG that is out of step with the majority of its members
- Annual CME conference with internationally renowned speakers and the chance to network with like-minded medical professionals from around the world
- Opportunities for students to get involved with research and be published
- The chance to be a part of an organization who has defended your right to practice ethical, life-affirming medicine on a state and national level for the last nearly 50 years
